...Still Feels Like Home

PEEC's 50th anniversary celebration on October 8th was a homecoming of sorts. Folks from the beginning of PEEC who remember every acquisition of hand-me-down furniture, summer interns turned married couples, people who have cherished memories of their valuable experiences and those who have joined more recently. The PEEC family continues to grow.

Driving the winding roads to PEEC often conjures up the thought of John Denver's popular song from just over 50 years ago, Take Me Home, Country Roads. What memories do you have of your visits to PEEC? Is it the bright fall foliage, the crisp mountain air, the smell of freshly fallen pine needles, a gooey s'more around the campfire?

Your support allows us to continue providing experiential opportunities for visitors of all ages in our immersive location within the oak-hickory forest of the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area. Please help PEEC educate the next 50 years of environmental stewards through a tax deductible donation today.

"I first stayed at PEEC when I was 3 years old. Today, at 39, the experience of discovery and fun I have at PEEC is as strong now as it ever was; however, no matter how much the buildings may change, the natural beauty and the people of PEEC still encourage a connection and a familiar sense of peace that will never go away."
